

Executive Proclamation

WHEREAS, Trucks and busses provide essential transportation services to all Americans; and,

WHEREAS, Five million trucks travel more than one hundred and thirty-eight billion miles each year, bringing raw materials, finished goods, food, and other essential products to market; and,

WHEREAS, The trucking industry alone employs more than seven million four hundred thousand Americans and generates annual revenues in excess of $200,000,000,000; and,

WHEREAS, The bus industry employs approximately fifty thousand people and provides service to over ten thousand cities and communities; and,

WHEREAS, The safe maintenance and operation of trucks and busses is vital to the health and safety of motorists, pedestrians, and other users of the Nation's highways, roads, and streets and is also vital to the companies and individuals directly involved in the provision of such transportation services; and,

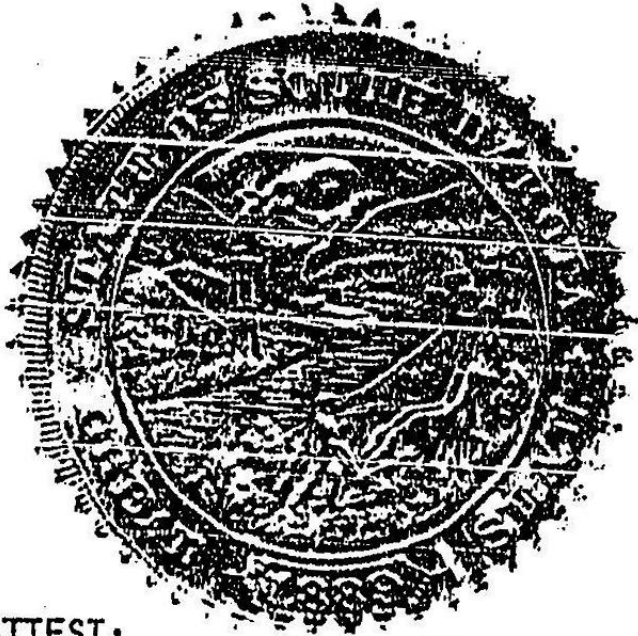

WHEREAS, The safe maintenance and operation of trucks carrying hazardous materials is essential not only to the safety of the immediate highway environment, but often to the surrounding environment as well; and,

WHEREAS, Improvements in the safe operation of trucks and busses result from activities undertaken by management and labor, including activities to ensure driver professionalism, which are complemented by government regulation:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, WILLIAM J. JANKLOW, Governor of the State of South Dakota, do hereby proclaim January 26 to February 1, 1986, as
